Question:

It is mentioned under Matters Requiring Special Attention that the Unit would “pursue long-term financial and other institutional arrangements for the 1823 service”. Please provide specific details of the arrangements. Will the Administration transfer the management of the service to other departments?

Asked by: Hon. FUNG Kin-kee, Frederick

Reply:

The 1823 Call Centre has been operating for more than eight years. It is timely to consider the experience gained and determine how the service should continue to develop and what financial and institutional arrangements are best suited to its future operation. Question:

It is mentioned under Brief Description that ‘the Efficiency Unit has designed and implemented the 1823 Call Centre (1823).....’ Please provide details of the costs and staff involved for the 1823 service in the past three years (i.e. 2007-08 – 2009-10), as well as the number and gist of complaints lodged against the service over the past three years (i.e. 2007 – 2009). What measures have the Administration taken to rectify the situation?

Asked by: Hon. FUNG Kin-kee, Frederick

Reply:

The expenditure and staffing level for the 1823 Call Centre (1823) in the past three years, and the estimated expenditure and staffing level in 2010-11 are set out in Appendix I.

The number and nature of complaints about the 1823 service in the past three years are set out in Appendix II. In 2009, the 1823 received about 2 943 000 calls and 104 000 emails from the public. The number of complaints about the 1823 service accounted for 0.018% of the total workload. The 1823 attaches great importance to improving its services and providing a quality service to the public. It has in place an intensive quality assurance programme including on-going staff training, monitoring of call and email handling and review of knowledge base to ensure the delivery of a quality service. The 1823 also conducts external customer satisfaction surveys through its interactive voice response system to collect public feedback on its service. In 2009, it obtained an average score of 4.2 (5 being the highest). On complaint handling, the 1823 has established a comprehensive network of contacts with departments to facilitate communication and quick response and to set up dedicated complaint teams to monitor departments’ follow-up actions. If a complaint case reveals unclear demarcation of responsibilities among departments, the complaint teams will alert and discuss the case with the concerned departments for early resolution. In 2010, the 1823 will continue to improve knowledge management and complaint handling with a view to providing the public with quality service.

Question:

Regarding the "...increase of seven posts to meet operational needs..." mentioned in the Analysis of Financial and Staffing Provision, will the Administration inform this Committee of the distribution and scope of duties of the seven posts and the actual expenditure involved?

Asked by: Hon. FUNG Kin-kee, Frederick

Reply:

There will be a net increase of seven posts in Administration Wing. The ranks and their purposes are as follows –

- (i) six posts will be created for setting up a new economic research unit in the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit -

Rank	Number
Senior Economist	1
Economist	3
Statistical Officer I	1
Assistant Clerical Officer	1

- (ii) two posts will be created to strengthen administrative support to the Administration Wing in implementing various Government policies and programmes -

Rank	Number
Chief Executive Officer	1
Systems Manager	1

The creation of the above eight posts will be offset by the deletion of one Clerical Assistant post in the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit. The provision involved is $5.1 million in total.

--------------------	---	---------------------	-------------------	---	---	---

Asked by: Hon. HO Sau-lan, Cyd

Reply:

The Public Policy Research Funding (PPRF) Scheme was launched by the Government in 2005 to promote public policy research in higher education institutions. The scheme is administered by the Research Grants Council (RGC) under the University Grants Committee. To support longer term public policy research projects, the Government has deployed half of the $20 million annual provision (i.e. $10 million) of PPRF to launch a Strategic Public Policy Research Funding (SPPRF) Scheme since the 2008-09 financial year. As at 4 March 2010, there were 40 completed projects and 51 projects (45 under PPRF and 6 under SPPRF) in progress or under planning. The total funding involved is $62.27 million.

Details of projects completed, in-progress and under planning as funded by the above-mentioned schemes are as follows-

When Central Policy Unit (CPU) receives a completed study under the PPRF Scheme, it will pass the research results to the relevant policy bureaux and departments for reference. The relevant bureaux and departments will take into account these findings when formulating their policies.

The Research Grants Council (RGC) will upload the executive summaries of the research reports of completed projects to its website (please see, for instance, <http://www.ugc.edu.hk/eng/rgc/result/other/ppr1.htm>). In addition, since 2009 RGC has been publishing a Public Policy Digest on the findings of completed PPRF projects. Two issues of the Digest are released each year to higher education institutions and relevant organizations. The content of the Public Policy Digest is also uploaded onto the RGC website (<http://www.ugc.edu.hk/eng/rgc/publication/ppd/ppd.htm>) for reference by the public.

Question:

Has the Administration promoted discussion on such research reports in the community? If yes, what are the details and the expenditure involved?

Asked by: Hon. HO Sau-lan, Cyd

Reply:

Apart from uploading the executive summaries of the research reports of completed projects to its website, the Research Grants Council (RGC) publishes a Public Policy Digest on the findings of completed projects funded under the Public Policy Research Funding Scheme. Two issues of the Digest are released each year in hardcopy and on the RGC website (<http://www.ugc.edu.hk/eng/rgc/publication/ppd/ppd.htm>). The Digest is also sent to members of Executive Council, Legislative Council, higher education institutions, government bureaux/departments, local and overseas think tanks, and non-governmental organizations. The estimated cost per year is about $70,000.

The Central Policy Unit and RGC co-organized a public policy forum “Informing Policy: Realizing the Potential and Benefits of Public Policy Research in Hong Kong” on 6 November 2009 at PolyU Hong Kong Community College. More than 100 participants including academics, government officials, think tanks, businessmen and community leaders exchanged views with public policy researchers in Hong Kong and Australia. Details of the Forum can be found in CPU’s website (http://www.cpu.gov.hk/english/conference\_20091106.htm). The forum incurred a total expenditure of $71,500 in 2009-10.

Question:

In 2010-11, how many periodic surveys and reviews will be carried out to assess the satisfaction and needs of the community? Please list out the organisations which will conduct the surveys, the titles of the surveys, the resources each required, and how administrative improvement will be made in light of survey results.

Asked by: Hon. CHAN Mo-po, Paul

Reply:

Since April 2007, the Efficiency Unit (EU) has commissioned local universities to conduct opinion surveys to measure citizens' satisfaction with public services. In 2010-11, the EU will commission the Poon Kam Kai Institute of Management (PKKI) of the University of Hong Kong to conduct a survey using the PKKI service excellence model. The estimated cost is around $250,000. The survey findings will help the EU to track performance by departments over time on a basis consistent with service quality measurement for private sector organisations. This will help with development of strategies to improve public services and improve channel management.

Individual departments may conduct surveys on their own and the related information is not included in this return.

Question:

What is the amount of resources earmarked in 2010-11 for the review of poverty indicators? How much manpower will be deployed for conducting the review and how will the results be applied?

Asked by: Hon. CHAN Mo-po, Paul

Reply:

After the Commission on Poverty (CoP) concluded its work in 2007, the Government set up the Task Force on Poverty (TFP), headed by the Secretary for Labour and Welfare and comprising representatives from relevant bureaux/departments, to follow up CoP's recommendations and coordinate the Government's efforts in alleviating poverty.

The TFP has been monitoring the poverty situation in Hong Kong from different perspectives through a set of multi-dimensional poverty indicators updated regularly. Where appropriate, TFP will improve the indicators by taking into account the changing needs of the society. Bureaux and departments will also make reference to the indicators in formulating and evaluating their policies to assist the needy. This work will continue.

The updating and analysis of the poverty indicators are an ongoing task. In 2010-11, the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit will continue to deploy existing resources and plan to deploy the remaining balance of $0.699 million under Operating Account Sunhead 700 Item 895 to engage additional contract staff to assist in updating and analyzing poverty indicators. Updated results of the exercise will be provided to Labour and Welfare Bureau and other relevant bureaux and departments for consideration and necessary follow-up.

Question:

What is the number of visits of the website Youth.gov.hk at www.youth.gov.hk from 2007-2009? How does the Government enhance communication with the youth through this website? Have resources been reserved for upgrading the function of the website to gather the views of the youth in an interactive way?

Asked by: Hon. CHAN Hak-kan

Reply:

From August 2007 to December 2009, the Youth Portal received 1 935 223 visits leading to 8 006 848 page views.

The Youth Portal is a “single window” to public information and services scattered in numerous government departments as well as youth related non-government organisations. Before the launch, the Efficiency Unit conducted surveys and focus groups to assess the needs and expectations of youths. Since then, focus groups have been held regularly to gauge views on the services provided by the portal. The Youth Portal is specifically designed with a look and feel that is appealing to the youths, helping them to find the information they want easily. It is also a platform for young people to share their work and experience on specific events or topics. It has launched various mobile features such as podcast and a mobile version to allowing searching anytime anywhere for youth related events and interest classes. In mid 2009, social networking functions were also provided so that users can share the career-focused contents and young bloggers’ articles with their friends.

Since interactive features and platforms are readily available on the internet, bureaux and departments typically use the portal to conduct short questionnaires to obtain views from youths on topical issues.

Question:

In 2010-11, the Efficiency Unit will pilot implementation of an integrated system supporting the Enterprise Information Management Strategy. Please provide details of the system, including the purpose and mode of operation, implementation timetable, and projected expenditure and benefits.

Asked by: Hon. WONG Ting-kwong

Reply:

At present the Efficiency Unit (EU) uses various desktop office automation tools and electronic mail. However, as with most government bureaux and departments, the EU still largely operates under a hybrid environment with substantial paper-based processes for circulation and retrieval of information and documents. By adopting information and communications technology for business processes and information management, we seek to improve the sharing, accessibility, integrity, and security of data, as well as improving operational efficiency. The new system will integrate workflow collaboration and record management, enabling a number of existing systems to be retired.

The development of the system has started in December 2009 and would be completed by mid 2010. The projected expenditure in 2010-11 is about $9 million.

The project will bring efficiency gain through automation of record keeping functions in compliance with long term archiving needs as well as operational reference, better support and collaboration among EU internal consultants, and more effective retention, sharing and utilisation of knowledge. The experience and lessons learned, covering both technology and business areas, will contribute to the development of the Government-wide enterprise information management guidelines and system development.

Question:

In 2010-11, the Efficiency Unit will encourage design and delivery of more integrated, citizen-centric services through “user-centred design” methods and the Youth Portal. Please provide details of the “user-centred design” method. Will additional resources be required for it?

Asked by: Hon. WONG Ting-kwong

Reply:

‘User-centred design’ is an approach to making public services work better for the people who are using them. Emphasis is placed on understanding the users’ needs, then designing more convenient and usable service interfaces, as well as enhancing operational efficiency.

The Efficiency Unit (EU) will deploy in-house consultants (Management Services Officers) to assist client departments in identifying and conducting “user-centred design” projects. Departments may wish to draw on service designers and external management consultants in the conduct of user-centred design exercises. They would need to fund this through their own Heads of Expenditure.

Question:

In 2010-11, the Efficiency Unit will provide support for bureaux and departments considering new partnership arrangements to help deliver improved services to the public. Please provide details of the new partnership arrangements. Please provide information on how to measure the effectiveness of the new partnership arrangements. Will additional resources be required for providing the support?

Asked by: Hon. WONG Ting-kwong

Reply:

The Efficiency Unit (EU) stands ready to provide support to bureaux and departments whenever they consider there are opportunities to use the partnership approaches to improve their delivery of services.

There are many different models of partnership but the approach has traditionally been associated with Public Private Partnership (PPP) in the design, build and maintenance of large-scale facilities, together with the service delivery phase. Such PPP contracts typically last between 10 to 30 years and take the form of DBO (Design, Build, Operate), BOT (Build, Operate, Transfer) and BOOT (Build, Own, Operate, Transfer) projects. The EU will continue to use its existing resources to provide support to bureaux and departments requesting our assistance to assess opportunities and develop the case for using any such approaches.

The EU is also encouraging departments to consider 'User-centred design' as an approach to making public services work better for the people who are using them. Emphasis is placed on understanding the users' needs, then designing more convenient and usable service interfaces. This can require partnership between different departments, as well as with outside agencies and public groups. The EU will deploy in-house consultants (Management Services Officers) to assist client departments in identifying and conducting user-centred design projects. Departments may wish to draw on service designers and external management consultants in the conduct of these exercises. They would need to fund this through their own Heads of Expenditure.

There is no simple formula for measuring the effectiveness of the many different partnership arrangements. In general terms, the parties to the partnership need to define and agree the objectives of the partnership, identify appropriate measurable indicators that reflect performance in achieving the objectives, and regularly review the performance results during the life of the partnership.

Question:

Did the Administration review the operational result of the “Be the Smart Regulator” Programme run by the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit under the Financial Secretary in 2008-09 and 2009-10? Will the Administration put forward any improvement or new measures in 2010-11? If yes, what is the estimated expenditure involved?

Asked by: Hon. WONG Ting-kwong

Reply:

The Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit (EABFU) and the Efficiency Unit have been jointly tasked to coordinate with 29 Bureaux/Departments (B/Ds) providing business licensing services to take forward improvement measures under the “Be the Smart Regulator” Programme (Programme). Since the launch of the Programme in early 2007, the Administration has made good progress on various fronts to improve the overall licensing environment for doing business in Hong Kong and contribute to reducing compliance costs to business. The Administration has reviewed the operational result of the Programme, and noted that the following key measures implemented by EABFU under the Programme in 2008-09 and 2009-10 are well received by the trades and B/Ds concerned –

- (i) Nine Business Liaison Groups (BLGs) for major business sectors have been set up to facilitate communication between B/Ds and the trades regarding licensing and regulatory issues. B/Ds concerned have also been making good use of the BLG meetings to consult the trades on new regulatory proposals and collect useful feedback to refine the proposals. So far, 69 BLG meetings have been held. Of the 429 issues raised by the trades at the BLG meetings, 408 have been clarified/resolved;
- (ii) A business consultation e-platform under the GovHK portal has been developed and promoted to B/Ds and the business community. This e-platform has been live run since late September 2008 to facilitate the business sectors to access consultation information relating to proposed regulations, administrative measures and procedures that would impact business and to offer their feedback. So far 44 consultation items from 21 B/Ds have been posted to the e-Platform and more than 28 000 visits to the e-Platform have been recorded;
- (iii) EABFU has developed a Business Impact Assessment (BIA) framework which B/Ds could deploy in assessing the implications of their regulatory proposals on the trades. Structured analysis of the trades' views/concerns and impact assessment findings will help B/Ds in refining their regulatory proposals and make them as business-friendly as possible. So far, EABFU has offered assistance to B/Ds concerned in conducting six BIA studies; and

- (iv) EABFU has continued to further promote business facilitation and customer centric culture within the civil service with encouraging feedback from the trades and licensing staff concerned.

In 2010-2011, EABFU will continue to take forward the above key measures under its purview, and work in partnership with the business community and B/Ds concerned to explore ways to maintain the momentum of the Programme. As the Programme is an ongoing task, EABFU will continue to deploy existing resources to take forward relevant improvement measures under the Programme.

Provision for 2010-11 is $36.6 million (13.3%) higher than the revised estimate for 2009-10 for reasons including an increase of seven posts. What are the duties of such posts, their respective numbers and the expenditure incurred?

Asked by: Hon. WONG Ting-kwong

Reply:

There will be a net increase of seven posts in Administration Wing. The ranks and their purposes are as follows –

- (i) six posts will be created for setting up a new economic research unit in the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit -

Rank	Number
Senior Economist	1
Economist	3
Statistical Officer I	1
Assistant Clerical Officer	1

- (ii) two posts will be created to strengthen administrative support to the Administration Wing in implementing various Government policies and programmes -

Rank	Number
Chief Executive Officer	1
Systems Manager	1

The creation of the above eight posts will be offset by the deletion of one Clerical Assistant post in the Economic Analysis and Business Facilitation Unit. The provision involved is $5.1 million in total.

To which policy bureau or department did the Government Records Service provides advice and support service during the period from 2007-08 and 2009-10? Please set out by year the names of the policy bureaux and departments served and the expenditure involved.

Asked by: Hon. HO Chun-yan, Albert

Reply:

Government Records Service (GRS) provides advice and support services on records management to bureaux and departments (B/Ds) through microfilming records, implementing electronic recordkeeping system (ERKS), conducting records management studies and training, and giving advice in response to B/Ds' requests. The expenditure involved is about $5.6 million for 2007-08, and $6.1 million for each of 2008-09 and 2009-10. While GRS does not maintain statistics on advice given, records management training was available to all B/Ds. Question:

Please advise of the amount of resources actually used in 2008-09 and 2009-10 by the Administration and that reserved in 2010-11 for the following items? What are the contents and policy objectives of these activities?

- (a) The expenditure for duty visits, exchanges and meetings in the Mainland by local officials;
- (b) The expenditure for exchanges, entertainments and meetings with Mainland officials and departments in Hong Kong;
- (c) The expenditure for duty visits, exchanges and meetings in overseas countries by local officials; and
- (d) The expenditure for exchanges, entertainments and meetings with overseas officials and departments in Hong Kong.

Asked by: Hon. HO Sau-lan, Cyd

Reply:

The actual expenditure in 2008-09 and 2009-10 in the four areas are as follows-

	2008-09 ($M)	2009-10 (revised estimate) ($M)
(a) Duty visits to the Mainland	0.75	0.83
(b) Meeting Mainland officials in Hong Kong	0.01	0.02
(c) Duty visits to overseas	1.82	1.80
(d) Meeting overseas officials in Hong Kong	0.01	0.01

It is expected the estimated expenditure in 2010-11 in the four areas would be similar to that in 2009-10.

The objective of meeting Mainland or overseas officials through goodwill visits, exchange programmes or conferences is to promote Hong Kong and share experiences on issues of common interests as well as exploring cooperation on different fronts.

A provision of $1,200,000 has been earmarked under Subhead 000 Operational expenses- “Honoraria for members of committees” in 2009-10 for the payment of honoraria to part-time Members of the Central Policy Unit (CPU).

Question:

- (a) How many call handling staff does the 1823 Call Centre (1823) have at present? Are they working on a two- or three-shift system? Regarding the nearly 3 million calls handled in 2009, what was the average time (minutes) for resolving an enquiry?
- (b) What are the details of the long-term financial and other institutional arrangements for the 1823 service to be pursued?

Asked by: Hon. LAU Wai-hing, Emily

Reply:

- (a) As at 5 March 2010, the 1823 Call Centre (1823) had a total of 229 full-time frontline call handling staff. These staff work on three shifts, providing round-the-clock service to the public. In 2009, 1823 handled about three million calls from the public. This included both enquiries and complaints. The average handling time per call was 357 seconds. Of the total number of enquiries handled, 97% were fully answered on the first call.
- (b) The 1823 Call Centre has been operating for more than eight years. It is timely to consider the experience gained and determine how the service should continue to develop and what financial and institutional arrangements are best suited to its future operation. Options will be drawn up and assessed during the year. No views have yet been taken on any details.

Question:

It is mentioned in the Estimates that the Unit will pilot implementation of an integrated system supporting the Enterprise Information Management Strategy. Please provide details of the system and the expenditure involved.

Asked by: Hon. LAU Wai-hing, Emily

Reply:

At present the Efficiency Unit (EU) uses various desktop office automation tools and electronic mail. However, as with most government bureaux and departments, the EU still largely operates under a hybrid environment with substantial paper-based processes for circulation and retrieval of information and documents. By adopting information and communications technology for business processes and information management, we seek to improve the sharing, accessibility, integrity, and security of data, as well as improving operational efficiency. The new system will integrate workflow collaboration and record management, enabling a number of existing systems to be retired.

The development of the system has started in December 2009 and will be completed by mid 2010. The projected expenditure in 2010-11 is about $9 million.

The project will bring efficiency gain through automation of record keeping functions in compliance with long term archiving needs. It will make operational reference to records easier, enable better support and collaboration among EU internal consultants, and encourage more effective retention, sharing and utilisation of knowledge. The experience and lessons learned, covering both technology and business areas, will contribute to the development of the Government-wide enterprise information management guidelines and system development.

Question:

The 2010-11 provision for Efficiency Unit (EU) is $137.5 million, decreased by 0.7% when compared with the revised estimate for 2009-10. Yet, in matters requiring special attention in 2010-11, the EU will embark on new measures including: (a) to pursue long-term financial and other institutional arrangements for the 1823 services; (b) to pilot implementation of an integrated system supporting the Enterprise Information Management Strategy (EIMS) to enhance its own operations and gain from the experience; (c) to encourage innovation in design and delivery of more integrated, citizen-centric services through “user-centred design” methods and the Youth Portal; and (d) to provide support for bureaux and departments considering new partnership arrangements to help deliver improved services to the public. In this connection, what are the detailed provisions for these new initiatives? Will the quality of existing services be affected because of the reduction of estimate in 2010-11? Will there be measures to secure the quality of service provided?

Asked by: Hon. SHEK Lai-him, Abraham

Reply:

The decrease in provision in 2010-11 is mainly attributable to the full-year effect of the 2009 pay adjustment. The provision for other business services provided by the Efficiency Unit (EU) has not been reduced. Hence, the quality of existing services will not be affected by the reduction of estimate.

Detailed provisions for the new initiatives are as follows –

- (a) As the 1823 Call Centre has been operating for more than eight years, it is timely to consider the experience gained and determine how the service should continue to develop and what financial and institutional arrangements are best suited to its future operation. This initiative will be conducted in-house and no extra expenditure is expected in 2010-11.
- (b) the projected expenditure for Enterprise Information Management Strategy in 2010-11 is about $9 million and it is funded by the Office of the Government Chief Information Officer.
- (c) “User-centred design” is an approach to making public services work better for the people who are using them. The EU will deploy in-house consultants (Management Services Officers) to assist client departments in identifying and conducting “user-centred design” projects. Departments may wish to draw on service designers and external management consultants in the conduct of user-centred design exercises. They would need to fund this through their own Heads of Expenditure. The Youth Portal will be supported by EU’s in-house consultants (Management Services Officers). No extra expenditure is expected to be incurred.

- (d) the EU stands ready to provide support to bureaux and departments whenever they consider there are opportunities to use the partnership approaches to improve their delivery of services. The EU will continue to use its existing resources to provide the support to bureaux and departments requesting our assistance to assess opportunities and develop the case for using any such approaches.

To achieve quality in the services it provides, the EU has a vigorous training and development programme to ensure that the skills of staff are kept up to date; we prepare clear project briefs and agree these with clients before commencement of work, and we seek and assess feedback from clients during and at the end of projects. These measures will be continued.

Question:

What is the reason for the substantial increase in Honoraria for members of committees from $940,000 in 1999-2000 to $2,230,000 in 2010-11 under Subhead 000 Operational expenses, the provision of which is $522,050,000? Please give a breakdown of actual expenditure for Honoraria for members of committees over the past 10 years.

Asked by: Hon. NG Margaret

Reply:

The increase in the provision for Honoraria for members of committees under Subhead 000 Operational expenses from $940,000 in 1999-2000 to $2,230,000 in 2010-11 is mainly due to the appointment of a retired judge and practicing barristers as the Chairman and Deputy Chairmen of the Administrative Appeals Board (AAB) to deal with the increasing workload of the AAB since 2001 and 2005 respectively. To recognise their professional efforts and substantial time contributed to the AAB, annual retainer and honoraria were arranged.

There is only one expenditure item under Subhead 000 Operational expenses – “Honoraria for members of committees” in Head 142. The actual expenditure for Honoraria for members of committees over the past 10 years is as follows –

Year	Actual Expenditure ($)
1999-2000	940,000
2000-2001	732,000
2001-2002	826,256

2003-2004	1,438,617
